

The Three Cs

Lowell Leadership Matrix

AS LEADERS WE:	HALLWAY	BATHROOMS	RECESS	LUNCH	LIBRARY	ASSEMBLY
CREATE COMMUNITY	We keep to the right of the stairs and acknowledge, or smile, at those we pass.	We treat the school bathrooms with respect. We leave things clean for others.	We include others and use respectful and safe language and actions.	We include others, especially those who look lonely. We engage in meaningful conversations.	We share the great books we've discovered and we learn about others through the books they share with us.	We use voice level "0" when assembly is in session. We listen respectfully and clap to show appreciation.
COLLABORATE	We walk in line quietly with a calm and safe body. We respect the personal and learning spaces of others.	We go in, do our business, wash our hands and return to class to rejoin the learning. We support others in doing the same.	We plan to play and have fun with a variety of friends. We respect the "freeze" and follow adult directions.	We work together to leave the Commons clean. We pick up after ourselves and recycle all we can.	We respect the library expectations, We use voice level 1 (whisper) and help others find books of interest.	We work together to write, design and produce material for our assemblies. We perform and lead the events.
CULTIVATE LEARNING	We use voice Level 1 (whisper) so we don't disturb the learning activities and spaces of others.	We use voice Level 1 (whisper) so we don't disturb the learning activities and spaces of others.	We take risks to try new games and activities. We support others in doing the same.	We take risks to try new foods and learn how what we eat, or don't eat, affects our learning.	We take risks to try new genres or authors. We read "just right" books.	We take risks to stretch ourselves in front of an audience. We support others in doing the same.
